- US Citizens and residents are subject to tax on world-wide income
- All income from whatever source must be reported on US tax return unless it is specifically exempt from US tax under US law or a tax treaty or international agreement
- In the event income is also subject to tax in a foreign country, the US allows a foreign tax credit if the income is earned outside of the US. For income earned inside the US, the foreign country should allow a foreign tax credit to eliminate any double taxation

LPR Green Card Holders

- Green Card holders employed at the EU Delegation to the US are subject to U.S. income taxes on their wages
- Green card holders are NOT subject to U.S. Social Security taxes.
- Generally, no exemption under Section 893 of the Internal Revenue Code is allowed for green card holders.
